March update

March 13, 2018

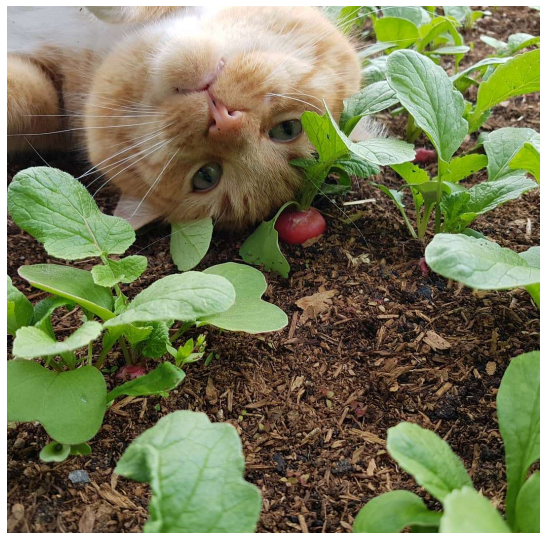

What a lovely storm we had on March 5th. It was so quiet. The highway was closed, we had no internet, no phone. Many of our neighbours had no electricity at all. Lucky for us, we had heat or the chicks might not have made it. We are working diligently in the greenhouse so we'll have crops as early as possible. We have buried electric heat wires in the beds to warm up the soil. Loki, our cat is photobombing the picture of our radishes which will be ready for market next week. We have not heard from a number of you. We absolutely need to know how many new people we can take on.
