

Blue certified ORGANIC

Lagoon
by ECOCERT
Canada

May Update 2016

May 13, 2016

Did you have snow this week in your neck of the woods? We had some but that didn't worry us too much. We planted potatoes and they're safe. The garlic is up and looking splendid. We covered up the plants that were hardening off outside but we worry about the fruit trees. We had -5 here last night and if the blossoms freeze, no apples again. The plants in the greenhouse are doing very well.

OUR CHICKS ARRIVED. They flew in by West

Jet from Nova Scotia They're called Nova Browns and are especially bred from heritage parents for a superior taste and meat texture. They're slow growing and good at free ranging. For now they are under heat lamps. They're so cute.

